SHOSTAKOVICH STRING QUARTET AND QUARTET ARTHUR-LEBLANC

A rare coming together of two world renowned string quartets, one from Russia, inspired by the great Russian composer Dmitri Shostakovich, and one from Canada, named in honour of the great Acadian violinist Arthur-LeBlanc, together to perform the Mendelssohn Octet and more.

LA PIETA

Founded and directed by violinist Angel Dubeau, this all woman ensemble was inspired by the orchestra of the orphanage La Pieta, where Vivaldi taught and composed. They have won critical acclaim for their recordings and concerts, and are in growing demand on the concert circuit.

IAN PARKER

Friday, February 25, 2000

The latest rising star from Canada's piano family, Ian Parker at just twenty years of age has played Carnegie Hall, appeared as soloist with major world orchestras, given recitals throughout North America and Europe, and won over ninety competitions. Mr. Parker will be playing on a magnificent 9.6 foot Steinway, the same instrument chosen by Arthur Rubenstein for the Queen Elizabeth Theatre in 1956.

TRIO LYRA

The combination of harp, flute and viola may be uncommon, but the result is uncommonly memorable. These instruments together produce a subtle, elegant sound which, together with an innovative programme, leaves audiences thrilled.

CHOR LEONI

Vancouver's "prize winning pride", known for their ethereal a capella singing and eclectic repertoire. Founded by Diane Loomer, Chor Leoni has made a meteoric rise to the upper echelons of the choral world, recording and singing widely to universal acclaim. A memorable finale to an outstanding season.
